Introduction:

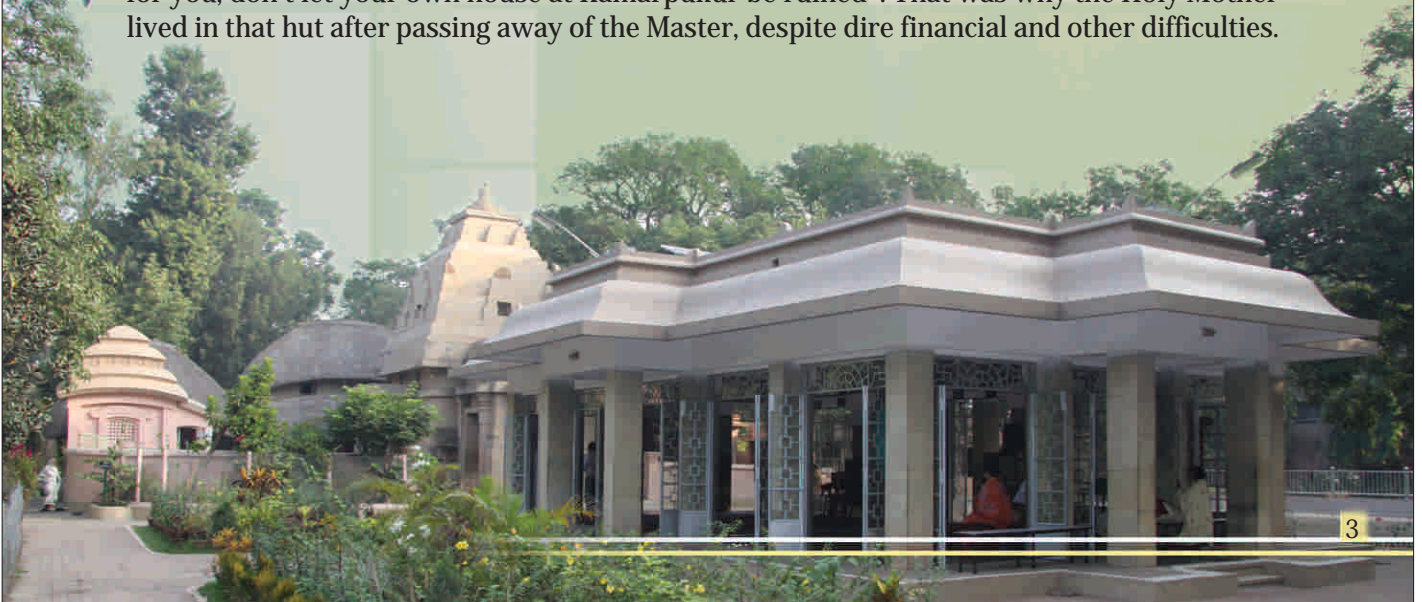

Bhagawan Sri Ramakrishna (1836-1886), the great religious prophet, was born on the 18th February, 1836 in Kamarpukur, the then an unknown village of Hooghly district in West Bengal at very critical time in the nineteenth century when the spiritual values and ideals of our life were fast deteriorating due to the impact of materialistic pursuits. In his great life he practised different religions for twelve years – at first Vedic religion with its various disciplines, then Islam and Christianity. He proclaimed that God exists and He can be realized. He also said that the goal of human life is to realize God. By his own realization, he also brought out the universal truth that all religions lead man to the same goal. His proclamation to the mankind “As many faiths so many paths”, “Service to man is service to God” and “Ultimate goal of human life is realization of God” greatly moved the modern world.

Swami Vivekananda spread the message of his Master, Sri Ramakrishna to the West. The impact of the teachings of Sri Ramakrishna can be clearly observed as the people all over the world have realized and accepted the concept of “Service to man is service to God” and that the spread of good will to all, irrespective of caste, creed and religion, will ultimately bring an end to all evils ushering in thereby a new civilization based on harmony, good will, peace and service to humanity.

The centre at Kamarpukur was affiliated to Headquarters of Ramakrishna Math and Ramakrishna Mission, Belur Math in 1947. Some of the significant holy places at Kamarpukur are :

Birth Place: According to English calendar, on Thursday, the 18th February, 1836, (As per the Indian Almanac, Wednesday, Phalguni sukla dwitiya, the second day of the light half of Phalgun) Gadadhar was born 12 minutes before sunrise. Just on the spot of his birth, the altar of the present temple of Sri Ramakrishna has been constructed and the things connected with his birth, viz. a husking pedal, a fireplace and a lamp, have been engraved on it. The marble image of Sri Ramakrishna installed on the 11th May, 1951, is since being worshipped there.

Sri Ramakrishna's Living-room: While at Kamarpukur, Sri Ramakrishna used to stay in the south-facing hut situated at the western side of the premises which is presently being used as part of the shrine of Sri Ramakrishna. Once he told the Holy Mother, “After my passing away, you stay at Kamarpukur, grow greens, live upon this simple fare and spend your days in repeating the name of the Lord. Whatever arrangements the devotees might lovingly make for you, don't let your own house at Kamarpukur be ruined”. That was why the Holy Mother lived in that hut after passing away of the Master, despite dire financial and other difficulties.

The temple of Sri Raghuvira: This was previously a small hut facing east. It had floor and walls of mud and a roof of straw. The present temple has been constructed exactly on the same spot with the same dimensions. In it, the Shalagrama Sheela of Raghuvira (Rama), The earthen jar representing Goddess Sitala, the Rameswara Shivalinga, an image of Gopala and the Shalagrama Sheela of Narayana are worshipped every day. The last two deities were worshipped by Lakshmi Didi, niece of Sri Ramakrishna.

The Parlour and the Mango Tree: At the parlour, Sri Ramakrishna used to meet people and instruct them. The Mango Tree planted by Sri Ramakrishna stands to the east of the parlour and still yields fruit.

Yugi's Shiva Temple: This temple is situated to the north of the residence of Sri Ramakrishna. In front of the temple his mother had a divine vision. While speaking to Dhani, she suddenly saw a beam of celestial light which emerged from the image of Shiva filled the temple and swiftly entered her body. Taken by surprise and overpowered with fear, she fell into a swoon. When she regained consciousness, she felt that the light was still in her womb and that she had conceived. As a result, Sri Ramakrishna was born.

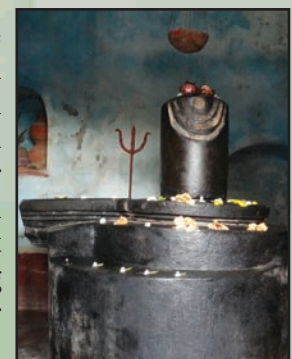

Halder-pukur: The vast water tank at the northern side of the Yugi's Shiva Temple is known as Halder-pukur. Many sweet memories of the boyhood days of Sri Ramakrishna centre round this tank. On innumerable occasions, Gadadhar came here with his friends and swam sportively there. The water of the tank has become sacred as Sri Ramakrishna, his father Kshudiram and the Holy Mother used to bathe in it.

The primary school of the Lahas: The school was held in the spacious Natmandir in front of Sri Durga Temple of Lahas where Gadadhar used to take school lessons at his early age. In a short time he learnt to read and write, but soon his interest changed and he developed a tendency to get merged in ecstatic moods at the sight of beautiful scenery or at the contemplation of particular deities. The boy liked the recital of the Puranas and the performance of village dramas more than his school lessons. His handwriting was good. The plays of Subahu and Yogadya which Gadadhar copied are still preserved in the Belur Math.

Temple of Gopeswar Shiva: This ancient temple is situated to the east of Sri Ramakrishna's house. Either Sukhlal Goswami, who helped Kshudiram to settle at Kamarpukur, or his forefather Gopilal Goswami had founded this temple with a big Shivalinga. When Sri Ramakrishna was passing through ecstatic moods at Dakshineswar, his mother hearing the report that Gadadhar had turned mad, got alarmed and went to Gopeswar Temple, where she practised hard penances to get the divine grace for the cure of her son. Then she heard a voice directing her to do likewise before the Shiva of Mukundapur. As a result of her penances, she was assured that her prayer would be fulfilled.

Sitanath Pyne's House: Sitanath Pyne was a man of mediocre means. His house was to the south of the Lahas. Gadadhar used to go there in his boyhood days. When about 12 or 13 years old, he used to have ecstatic trances while singing devotional songs, or reading holy books like the Ramayana and the Mahabharata there. The women of the village then worshipped him as the embodiment of Sri Chaitanya or Sri Krishna. Once on the occasion of the Shivaratri, there was an arrangement for the performance of a village drama. As the boy was to act as Shiva fell suddenly ill, Gadadhar was persuaded to play that role. But as soon as he came to the stage decked with matted locks, Rudraksha beads and ashes, he fell into a deep trance which lasted very long and the performance had to be stopped.

Durgadas Pyne, a neighbour of Sitanath, was in favour of the system of keeping women always indoors. Even Gadadhar, who was held in great respect by him, was not allowed to enter his house. Gadadhar was extremely opposed to this system as he believed that the morality and integrity of womanhood could be preserved only by good education and religious training and not by this rigorous system of confinement of women within the precincts of one's household.

With a view to teaching Durgadas a lesson, Gadadhar dressed like a weaver woman, sought shelter for the night in his house. Durgadas felt her helpless condition and permitted her to stay this house for some time with other women. Gadadhar went inside the house and soon picked up all particulars about the family during conversation with the inmates. Durgadas finally understood the tricks played on him by Gadadhar, at first he felt much discomfort but afterwards began to laugh. Since then Gadadhar had free access to his house.

Budhui Moral Cremation Ground: To the east of the village of Kamarpukur, lies the cremation ground. While staying at Kamarpukur, Sri Ramakrishna used to go now and then to spend much of his time in contemplation.

Dhani Kamarini's Birth Place and Temple: It is situated to the south-east of the Sri Ramakrishna's house. Recently, a small temple has been built on that site by some devotees and also an oil painting of Dhani with the child Gadadhar in her lap has been placed. In that temple the photo of Sri Ramakrishna is worshipped. Once she got a promise from the boy that at the time of his investiture with the sacred thread he would accept alms from her. But it was contrary to the custom in the Chattopadhyaya family to accept alms from a non-brahmin on such an occasion. So his elder brother objected to it; but Gadadhar was adamant for keeping his word to Dhani. Frankly speaking, Gadadhar kept his word.

Chinu Shankhari's Birth Place: Srinivas (alias), though not born in a high family, had great devotion to God. His relations with the boy Gadadhar was very sweet. He had a strong faith that Gadadhar was a divine man and loved him dearly. He was afraid that he might die before he could witness the unfoldment of his divine play. One day he fed Gadadhar with sweets and prayed for his grace. Even when he grew up, Sri Ramakrishna kept loving Srinivas. After his sadhana periods, whenever Sri Ramakrishna visited Kamarpukur, Srinivas spent his time with him in religious discourses. Later the master often referred to his deep seated devotion and love. At present nothing exists at the site of Chinu's house situated to the north-east of the Sri Ramakrishna's house. The site has been maintained by Ramakrishna Math, Kamarpukur.

Cremation Ground and Banyan Tree at Bhutir Khal: This cremation ground is situated at the north-west of Sri Ramakrishna's house. When Sri Ramakrishna came home after his strenuous austerities at Dakshineswar at the age of 22, he used to go there and to the other cremation ground (Budhui Moral) for spiritual practices. There is an old Banyan tree under which he used to meditate during the greater part of the night. He also planted a Bilwa tree there.

Palace of Manik Raja: Manik Chandra Bandyopadhyaya of Bhursubo Village was renowned in the area for his great benevolence and so he became known as "Manik Raja". To the west of Bhutir Khal he reared an extensive mango grove for the public. His garden became the playground of Gadadhar and his friends. With the passage of time it has become paddy field, with only a few mango trees standing here and there as a reminiscence of the past. There are many other incidents mentioned in Sri Sri Ramakrishna Lila-Prasanga about the intimacy of Gadadhar with Manik Raja.

Mukundapur Shiva Temple: It is situated on the south-west of Sri Ramakrishna's Birth Place. On being directed by Gopeswar Shiva, Gadadhar's mother went to this temple and lay there without food and drink, praying for the recovery of Gadadhar from his supposed madness. She, however, felt comforted when she heard a divine voice saying "don't be afraid, your son is not mad; he has become like this because of divine intoxication". It is said that from that time onward many people have got their prayers fulfilled by practising such penances before the deity.

Anur: The village called Anur is situated about 3 km to the north of Kamarpukur. Goddess Visalaakshi of Anur is a very popular deity.

One day a few ladies of Kamarpukur and its neighbourhood were going in a group to offer worship to Visalaakshi when the eight years old Gadadhar also accompanied them. He recited from memory beautiful verses and sang songs about the deities, while walking with them. But as he was singing the glory of Visalaakshi, his body became stiff. Tears flowed down his cheeks and his voice also choked. The ladies felt helpless and became extremely anxious. Prasanna, the devoted daughter of Dharmadas Laha, was in the party. All on a sudden it occurred to her that it might be due to the mystic influence of the Goddess on the simple hearted child who had great faith in her. When she spoke it out all other believed it, and in hoping they prayed to the Goddess repeatedly saying, "Oh Mother Visalaakshi be pleased; save us Mother; please look upon us with compassion." Wonder of wonders! Immediately the face of Gadadhar brightened up with a sweet smile and gradually consciousness came back. The ladies felt relieved and with their heart overflowing with devotion, they went to the temple, offered their worship duly and returned home.

AGRICULTURE:

Considering the various hazards in soil, water, creatures and environment due to mass and injudicious application of chemical fertilizers and pesticides in Agriculture, the Department of Agriculture, Ramakrishna Mission, Kamarpukur has wholeheartedly initiated an untiring attempt to overcome the said problems in its own farmland and to gather experiences by adopting Integrated Nutrient Management concept with organic resources and reduced quantity of chemical fertilizers, in large scale and Organic Farming in limited scale from the middle of the year 2011 in order to transmit those results to the farming community for their belief.

As such, the results along with photographs were shown and discussed in details by the expert scientists in a “Krishi Mela”, held every year in February and initiated from 2012 for awareness and motivation to the farmers in view of mass adoption of the latest technology / knowledge in agriculture. This year also “Krishi Mela” was held during 4th, 5th and 6th February, 2015 in presence of eminent scientists and dignitaries.

So far as the result is concerned, it was observed that reducing the dose of chemical fertilizers slowly from 25% to 100% and replacing by organic resources reciprocally like, quality and enriched nutrient contained vermicompost, biofertilizers, green manures, green leaf manures, Azolla, Sanjibani and Panchagabya etc. and Botanical pesticides/Bio-pesticides/Neem oil/Cow urine/Vermiwash/Sanjibani/Nicotine-/chilli- extract etc. for controlling diseases and pests contributed similar or more crop yield in Paddy, various types of Vegetables and Flowers, Sesame, Ground Nut, Wheat, Pulses and Potato with reduction in the diseases and pests. But the potato yield is still not at par by the application of limited dose of only organic resources in comparison with INM package, because the demand of nutrition in potato is too high. Besides, long duration of crops, significant reduction in diseases and pests, shape, size, colour and tastes of the produce were also found significantly improved and achieved by the application of organic resources.

To produce the various components of Integrated Nutrient Management/Organic Farming concepts for application in agriculture, 2 types of Earthworm, 5 types of Bio-fertilizer, 2 types of green leaf manure, 6 types of Green manure, Azolla, few medicinal plants and 7 types of Bio-pesticides are being scientifically maintained and produced along with Sanjibani and Panchagabya as nutritive materials and Botanical pesticides/Vermiwash/Nicotine-/Chilli-extract etc. as controlling agent for diseases and pests.

During the year 2014-15, 27150 kg quality Vermicompost, 3582 kg Azolla and 120 kg quality Arbuscular Mycorrhizal Fungi Bio-fertilizer in sterilized soil condition were produced and used in R.K. Mission's agricultural land. About 825 kg quality vermicompost along with little quantity of Biofertilizers and Biopesticides were supplied to a reputed local farmer for use. Besides the use of vermicompost in different agricultural crops and vegetables as well as flowers, a good quantity of quality vermicompost was also supplied to other Deptts. of Ramakrishna Mission, Kamarpukur viz. High School, Yatri Nivas, Medicinal and other Gardens, Pallimangal, Mango and Coconut Plantation, Green manure plantation and maize plantation for AMF biofertilizer production.

HEALTH CARE FACILITIES

The Ramakrishna Math and Ramakrishna Mission, Kamarpukur, the holy birth place of Bhagawan Sri Ramakrishna Deva, has been considered as one of the most important branch centres of Ramakrishna Math and Ramakrishna Mission, Belur Math, district Howrah.

It is learnt that once Bhagawan Sri Ramakrishna told to 'Naren' (Swami Vivekananda) that, "you can see Him (God) when you close your eyes, can't you see Him when you open your eyes?" And He preached him to serve the poor, the downtrodden as God. Swami Vivekananda, while travelling extensively from Kashmir to Kanyakumari, observed that mass population were living in painful and miserable conditions socially and economically. He himself felt the tremendous pain of the poor, the downtrodden and the destitute. His heart was outbursting until he could do something for them. He inspired the world with his historic message to serve God in the poor, the suffering, the ignorant and the sinner. Swami Vivekananda pronounced, "Who serves Jiva; serves God indeed."

Ramakrishna Mission had been doing many general and social welfare services including health, education, relief etc. since its inception. However, after the devastated flood in 1978 which destroyed many villages causing loss of home, property, crops, cattle etc., the then President of Ramakrishna Math and Ramakrishna Mission, big hearted Srimat Swami Vireswaranandaji Maharaj who was enlightened with the vision of Swami Vivekananda, took initiative to rebuild villages through a new rural development project called 'Pallimangal'. Thus, the pallimangal project was started in the year 1980 initially with some welfare programmes for the villages in Arambag division of Hooghly district.

'Pallimangal' is a Bengali word, meaning rural welfare. Obviously Ramakrishna Mission Pallimangal, Kamarpukur, Hooghly has been working in villages since its inception for the upliftment of the poor and downtrodden with an emphasis on the women folk through its health, education, economic, social and cultural development programmes under the direct supervision of its headquarters at Belur Math, Howrah.

Ramakrishna Mission Pallimangal is the wing of integrated rural developmental work of Ramakrishna Mission, Kamarpukur, Hooghly, West Bengal. This has successfully been running with several rural developmental programme including self-reliance vocational training and production as well as marketing support system in weaving, handicrafts, incense sticks making and food processing having a primary objective of helping the poor and destitute women folk by providing them some opportunities of income generation and thereby improving their economic as well as social status. We are thankful to department of Micro, Small & Medium Enterprises (MSME), Govt. of India for organizing a workshop based training programme on fruit & vegetable preservation for women at our training centre. A brief description of the programme implemented during the year is mentioned below :

SOIL TESTING LABORATORY: Considering the needs and priorities of the most cultivated areas of West Bengal, the soil testing laboratory was established at Kamarpukur in the year 1983. The objective was to encourage the farming community for scientific agriculture with balanced use of plant nutrients obtained from soil analysis study for higher production, economy in input cost, maintenance of soil health and reduction in environmental pollution etc.

The following figures depict the performance of this laboratory during the year 2014-15:

Soil samples received from Govt. Dept.	15

MUSHROOM SPAWN PRODUCTION: As a follow up activity, after completion of Swami Akhandananda Seva Prakalpa held during June, 2012 to March, 2014 particularly after the training imparted on “Modern method of Mushroom cultivation”, an attempt was made to produce the Spawn at Kamarpukur Pallimangal to support the trainees for their income in low cost Mushroom production house as provided by said Prakalpa. So far, 229 packets of spawn (200g in each packet) was prepared and sold to the trainees and thus the individual trainee is earning about Rs.2000- Rs.3000 per crop (by 50-60 days) maintaining their other domestic works at home.

FOOD PROCESSING UNIT: This unit was launched during the year 2001 with an objective of promoting Cottage Industries with a locally available resources, minimizing wastage of perishable vegetables/fruits like Tomato, Mango, Pineapple etc. and for attracting the farmers a new source of marketing. At present 9 (nine) different items like Pickle, Jam, Jelly, Sauce, Squash, Kasundi, Papad, Snacks and Ghee are being produced in our unit with very good response and demand from the customers.

MINI JUTE SPINNING PROGRAMME: This unit has been manufacturing twine from raw jute regularly since its inception in the year 1987. The project was commenced in collaboration with erstwhile Jute Technological Research Laboratories (now NIRJAFT), Department of Science & Technology, Govt. of India and that of Government of West Bengal. The idea was to bring the processing unit at the level of jute growers to help the jute farmers and to provide employment to some rural youths.
